It is known from the historical development of any country that the rapid development of the country, the achievement of certain achievements, and the well-being of the people depend on the level of attention paid to the education and future of the youth in that country. In this sense, the issue of youth in Uzbekistan is one of the most priority areas of state policy. In the country, a strong legal framework has been created to protect the rights and interests of young people, to create the necessary conditions and opportunities for them, and this system is up-to-date and being improved in accordance with the requirements. Social protection of youth includes state guarantees for young citizens and their families to ensure physical, mental and moral growth and social development in the interests of the people of Uzbekistan.

For young people in the Republic of Uzbekistan:

free medical service;

get free education;

participate in sports-health and cultural-educational institutions on preferential terms;

providing preferential loans for housing construction and purchase of household goods;

the right to be provided with a job or to receive material compensation in accordance with current laws for the initial labor activity;

taking into account the needs of young people during the design and construction of social infrastructure objects;

transportation privileges for students, student youth and minor citizens;

minimum social security guaranteeing compensation payments to minors is established

Digital technology training centers will be established in all regions on the basis of advanced international experiences in protecting young people from malicious attacks on the Internet and teaching them to use information technologies efficiently. e-commerce and programming are taught free of charge in these places, innovative business skills are formed in the field of information technologies, and "startup" projects are supported. Also, until 2021, a plan of measures to provide computer classes in all schools with modern technologies and a high-speed Internet network will be developed and implemented step by step. newly established computer game centers will be provided with tests, quizzes, development strategies and other useful programs aimed at expanding the knowledge and outlook of the younger generation.

In order to strengthen the reading skills of young people, no less than 1 million copies of books were delivered to the Republic of Karakalpakstan and all regions within the framework of a new initiative. therefore, one exemplary bookstore will be established in the center of each city and district, mobile book pavilions will be placed, and library services will be provided to the residents of villages and villages through "Bibliobuses".

it should be noted that this issue was also reflected in the "Strategy of Actions on the five priority areas of development of the Republic of Uzbekistan in 2017-2021". In particular, the following priority tasks aimed at social protection of young people were defined:

- firstly, educating young people who are physically healthy, mentally and spiritually developed, independent-thinking, loyal to the Motherland, with a firm outlook on life, deepening democratic reforms and increasing their social activity in the process of civil society development;
  - secondly, employment of graduates of secondary special, vocational and higher educational institutions and involvement in the field of private entrepreneurship;
  - thirdly, to support and realize the creative and intellectual potential of the young generation, to form a healthy lifestyle among children and young people, to widely involve them in physical education and sports.
- In a country where more than half of the population consists of young people, it is necessary to consistently implement the state policy on youth, to make the young generation mature and well-rounded in all respects, with intellectual potential, who has its own firm position, and is not indifferent to the reforms implemented in the country. Educating people who are ready to contribute to the decent future of the country, goal-oriented, active, patriotic, loyal, and perfect individuals is an important factor in making Uzbekistan one of the most developed countries in the world.
